Outstanding Scientific Citation Awards

To recognize researchers producing the most outstanding research publication in both the basic and clinical/translational research areas at the following faculty ranks:

- Instructor/Assistant Professor
- Associate Professor

Deadline: Nominations will be accepted through midnight EST Monday, May 7.

Eligibility: All regular full-time or part-time faculty (Instructors, Assistant Professors and Associate Professors) with a primary appointment in the Department of Medicine of Emory University are eligible who have not received this award during the previous 3 years.

Nominations: Investigators must submit a peer-reviewed publication on which they are the first or last author. The associated manuscript must have been published, or accepted for publication between May 1, 2017 and May 1, 2018. A single publication will be entertained for only one nominee, and may not be submitted in subsequent years. For works involving multi-site clinical trials, the nominee must be first or corresponding author, or have held a significant position on the development, steering, or writing committee. For both basic and clinical/translational research awards, a significant portion of data acquisition must have been performed at Emory. Nominations can be self-made or made by other eligible faculty.

Submission: Must be made electronically via the link below.

- Narrative of significance (5000 character limit)
- Manuscript in PDF

Submit Nomination

Decision: Will be made by an independent committee composed of Emory faculty outside the Department of Medicine. This committee is assembled from a wide variety of medical and scientific fields. Rather than ranking the perceived importance of the particular topic, manuscripts will be judged on more universal standards of adherence to scientific method, clarity of writing, quality of methods and statistics, and significance of results.

Award: The award will include a monetary award and a commemorative plaque to be awarded during Celebratory Medical Grand Rounds on June 26, 2018.

Questions should be directed to: DOM Faculty Development at domfacultydev@emory.edu