2nd Annual
Southern Symposium on Heart Failure

Saturday, October 22, 2016, from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Emory Saint Joseph’s Hospital, Ground Floor Auditorium
5665 Peachtree Dunwoody Road, NE, Atlanta, GA 30342

Curriculum designed for:
Cardiologists, primary care physicians, advanced practice providers, registered nurses, allied health professionals, and residents/fellows involved in the diagnosis and treatment of heart failure.

Featuring guest faculty:
Javed Butler, MD
Chief, Division of Cardiology
Stony Brook Medicine
“What’s New on the Heart Failure Horizon: Insights into the Latest Guidelines”

Stuart Russell, MD
Chief, Heart Failure and Transplantation
Johns Hopkins Hospital
“LVADs: Where we are today”

This symposium will be certified for continuing education credit for physicians and nurses.

Registration is now open. $175 for physicians; $100 for non-physician clinicians. Use the code SSHF2016 for 15% off registration.

For more information, visit achlcme.org/SSHF2016 or contact Katlyn Cooper at kcooper@achlcme.org.